Annual Billing and Mid-Cycle Changes

Customers who choose annual billing are charged the full annual amount upfront at a 20% discount relative to the monthly rate. If a customer upgrades from Starter to Growth partway through an annual term, Pathwise calculates a prorated charge for the remaining months at the Growth annual rate, and the original Starter payment is credited toward that charge rather than refunded separately. This credit appears as a line item on the next invoice rather than as a direct refund to the original payment method. If a customer upgrades from Growth to Enterprise mid-term, the remaining Growth balance is similarly credited against the custom Enterprise contract value, and a Pathwise sales representative will confirm the exact credited amount before the Enterprise agreement is finalized. Downgrades on annual plans are handled differently: a downgrade does not generate a credit or refund for the difference in plan value. Instead, the lower-tier pricing takes effect only when the current annual term ends and the subscription renews, meaning a customer who downgrades mid-term continues to have access to their original plan's features and limits until the renewal date. This is intentional, since Pathwise does not prorate refunds for annual plan downgrades under any circumstance, consistent with the refund policy for annual subscriptions described in the Refund and Billing Policy document.
